French Order Army Head to Defiant Algiers

By GODFREY ANDERSON

PARIS (U) — Premier Pierre Pflimlin ordered France's military chief to Algiers today, opening the government's drive to win back Algeria from backers of Gen. Charles de Gaulle. But from Algeria came a defiant no.

"We will never move an inch backward," said N.N.B. (E. Serigny), a powerful member of the French insurgent junta in Algiers. "We will accept no one but De Gaulle."

Bolestered by the solid endorsement of the National Assembly, Lorient was ordered to confer with Gen. Raoul Salan, the French military commander in Algeria, who has been walking a tightrope between Paris and the French civilian and military junta in Algiers.

Ostensibly, Lorient's mission is one of discussing routine military operations against the Algerian nationalists who have been fighting French rule for more than 3 1/2 years. But that official reason for the mission apparently is to ward off angry demonstrations when Lorient arrives.

De Serigny told an Algiers news conference that Pflimlin is wrong if he thinks he can settle the insurrection in a few days. He added that De Gaulle is the only one capable of maintaining the unity of the nation.

Pflimlin promised the National

Doctor Declares Slayer Is Sane

LINCOLN, Neb. (U) — Dr. Edwin Coats of Lincoln, a prosecution psychiatrist, testified today he found no evidence of organic brain damage in killer Charles Starkweather.

Dr. Coats underwent cross-examination by Defense Atty. Gen. Clement Gaughan and re-direct examination by Chief Prosecutor Elmer Scheele as the 2 1/2-week-long murder trial heard its end.

Dr. Coats' testimony and the likelihood of additional re-direct testimony stalled off the final arguments today.

Dispute Tax Payment to County Judges

HAMBURG, Ark. (U) — Two Ashley County residents have filed a suit challenging alleged payment of tax money to the Arkansas County Judges Assn.

In their Ashley Chancery Court petition, G. W. Ferrell and J. R. Martin seek recovery of $50 plus interest.

The suit names as defendants Ashley County Judge W. T. Higginbotham and Carroll County Judge Arthur Carter, the latter secretary-treasurer of the County Judges Association.

The complaint alleges that Carter filed "an illegal claim" against Ashley County for $50 in January, 1957, and that Higginbotham approved payment of the claim.

Both defendant judges knew the money was to be turned over to the association and used by it "for the advancement of its interests and for no authorized or legitimate county purpose," the suit charges.

An injunction to prohibit further such payments is sought. Last year, the Pulaski County Grand Jury at Little Rock investigated alleged payments of tax money by judges to the association. No action was taken. The judges said the money was for association memberships and that payments were made with approval of the state controller's office.

600 Hy-Line Pullets From Corn Belt Hatcheries Placed With Eight 4-H Club Youths

Yesterday six hundred day old Hy-Line 932-A pullets were placed with eight 4-H Club members in Hempstead County. Oliver L. Adams, County Agent, announced today.

Each 4-H Club member received 100 pullets. They will grow out these pullets and return 12 pullets this fall to be exhibited and sold at the 4-H Poultry Show and Sale. These are the best quality chicks that we could obtain and normally sold for sixty cents each at a day old. Agent Adams pointed out.

This 4-H poultry chain program was started in 1950 when Sears-Roebuck Foundation provided $300 to purchase the first 1,000 chicks. Corn Belt Hatcheries of Arkansas, with headquarters at Hope, contributed a similar discount on the Hy-Line pullets. The Sears-Roebuck Foundation provides $40 in prize money this year if six entries of 12 pullets are entered in the show in October.

The 4-H Club youth receiving units of 100 pullets each are Peggy Hampton, Michael Samuels, James Cummings, Carroll McKee, Charles and Marshall McKee, and Cecil and Bryan England.

The program is designed to teach the Club members good management principles in poultry and egg production. The Extension Agents will visit the club members regularly to advise them on brood and other objectives. It is to reduce the cost of producing eggs for the family through the use of better quality laying flocks. Many families do not realize the cost of keeping a flock of low producing hens.

The club members agree to follow the Agricultural Extension Service recommendations in growing and raising their pullets. As the birds are approximately 22 weeks old, each youngster selects 12 of his best pullets and brings them

Presbyterians Told to Abide by Church Rule

ARKADELPHIA, Ark. (U) — The new head of the Southern Presbyterian Church said here yesterday that Southern whites had a special responsibility to give the gospel of Christ to Negroes.

Phillip E. Howerton of Charlotte, N. C., also urged Presbyterians to abide by the decisions and rulings of the church courts.

The secretary said he is convinced that the government could afford such temporary losses of revenue. He said any losses would be temporary and that the stimulus to new investment will, within a short time, result in sufficient expansion to offset such losses.

Weeks also noted that small businesses often have difficulty in borrowing money to get started or to expand. It was in this connection that he outlined his fifth proposal.

He suggested creation of investment companies financed primarily with private funds which would advance money to small concerns through debentures that could later be converted into common stock.

The group also adopted a report from its Committee on Christian Relations which outlined the voting duties of a Christian.

"God is as interested in how we vote as in how we pray," the report said. "It is better not to vote than to vote indiscriminately or uninformed."

Hearings on Henley Appointment Likely

WASHINGTON (U) — Sen. John L. McClellan (D-Ark.) said today he hopes to have a meeting of his Senate Judiciary Subcommittee early next week to consider procedure on President Eisenhower's nomination of J. Smith Henley to be a U. S. district judge in Arkansas.

Other members of the committee are Sen. Sam Ervin (D-N.C.) and William Langer (R-N.D.). Eisenhower named Henley, now with the Justice Department, some weeks ago for a vacancy which has existed for a year.

McClellan, who has been tied up most of the year with his Senate Labor-Rackets Committee hearings, said Langer has said the might want the group to have hearings on the nomination.

Some Arkansas Republicans are said to have protested Henley's nomination to Langer. Langer has declined to comment.

Weeks Has Five Proposals to Aid Small Business

WASHINGTON (U) — Secretary of Commerce Weeks laid before Congress today five proposals for aiding small business as a means of fighting the recession.

In testimony prepared for the House Banking Committee, Weeks said: "I anticipate that the economic picture will be much brighter this year and the next if we do the right things now."

Four suggestions by Weeks would involve changes in tax regulations. The fifth calls for government encouragement of private investment companies which would make loans to small business.

The four suggested tax changes:

1. Revision of the Internal Revenue Code to permit investors in small businesses to deduct in full any issues of up to $50,000 in any one year.

2. Authorize businesses to depreciate at faster-than-usual rates purchases of used equipment not exceeding perhaps $50,000 in any one year. Weeks said most new businesses start with used equipment and that any increase in the use of such equipment would ultimately lead to larger purchases of new equipment.

3. Allow small corporations the privilege of being taxed as partnerships in certain cases. He said this would give them greater stability and would involve a relatively small revenue loss to the government.

4. Allow the payment of estate taxes over a period of up to 10 years by estates consisting largely of investments in closely held business firms. This would avoid many cases of forced sales in order to pay taxes, Weeks said.

The secretary said he is convinced that the government could afford such temporary losses of revenue. He said any losses would be temporary and that the stimulus to new investment will, within a short time, result in sufficient expansion to offset such losses.

Weeks also noted that small businesses often have difficulty in borrowing money to get started or to expand. It was in this connection that he outlined his fifth proposal.

He suggested creation of investment companies financed primarily with private funds which would advance money to small concerns through debentures that could later be converted into common stock.

Ill-Tempered Bird Attacking People

BLUTHSVILLE, Ark. (U) — An ill-tempered bird reportedly has attacked several persons in a residential area here during the past few days.

Authorities said the victims report that the bird always strikes after dark.

Mrs. Gene Sutton said the creature struck her in the back of the head Saturday night and tried to sink its claws in her scalp. She could only describe it as a large bird.

Speculation on the identity of the bird has ranged from blue jays to owls.

Nixon Urges More Attention to Latins

WASHINGTON (U) — Vice President Nixon says it is high time for United States diplomats to pay attention to students, labor leaders and press representatives in Latin America.

He said these groups represent the wave of the future in Latin American countries, with prospects they will lead their governments in the next five to ten years.

Reporting Wednesday to a National Press Club luncheon on his last-earned visit to eight Latin American countries, Nixon strongly urged more personal contacts with citizens of the nations to the south.

Nixon, answering a question after his address, said he deliberately met with Latin American students and labor leaders to answer criticism and show them that there is an alternative to communism.

Moscow, in an effort to bolster Red influence in Latin America, he said, is concentrating on student and labor groups.

Nixon repeated what he has already said since his return from Caracas, Venezuela, where he and his wife were attacked by a stone-throwing, "spitting" mob — that it would be a great mistake to attribute the anti-American outbreaks there and in Peru entirely to the Communists.

He said the Communists exploited social causes of resentment as a belief in Latin America that this country has supported dictatorships including the Perez Jimenez regime overthrown in Venezuela only last January and a decline in South American exports of such things as oil and minerals.

Neither Maj. Gen. Sherman T. Cline, Arkansas adjutant general, nor Lt. Col. Clarence Page, assistant adjutant general, was available for comment after today's announcement.

Officers Search for Jailbreaker

HARRISBURG, Ark. (U) — Officers combed wooded areas near Harrisburg today for a 4-year-old Negro man who broke out of Point-Bell County Jail yesterday.

Sheriff C. T. Sullivan said the prisoner, Lanas Berard, ran out of the jail while at work mopping the floor. He had been left under the supervision of trustees, the sheriff said.

Berard had been jailed on a burglary charge in connection with housebreaking incidents at Marked Tree.

The Negro, identified as a Jamaican, disappeared in a patch of woods about 100 yards from the jail. A posse launched a search for him and late yesterday Deputy Sheriff Ray Holmes saw him in field north of Harrisburg, but he ran into a wooded area and Holmes lost him.

Army Abandons Plan to Disband Guard Divisions

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (U) — Secretary of Defense McElroy declined today to commit the Eisenhower administration to keeping the National Guard at 400,000 men strength even if Congress orders it.

McElroy was subjected to a fusillade of questions after Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, Army chief of staff, had told the 50th annual governors conference the Defense Department has decided to retain six National Guard divisions previously scheduled to go out of existence.

However, Taylor said he had been directed to cut back the Guard's paid-drill strength to 360,000 men, including 55,000 six-month trainees.

The original plan for reduction in the size of the ground National Guard grew out of federal government economy measures.

In his prepared speech today, Taylor said many governors have passed along their thoughts on the proposal to Secretary of Defense Neil McElroy and Secretary of the Army Wilbur Brucker.

Then Taylor added: "This morning Secretary Brucker and I are happy to announce that there has been a relaxation of the original guidance upon which our plans thus far have been based. The Army has been authorized to develop a plan looking toward the retention of the present 37 divisions in the reserve forces structure, that is 27 National Guard divisions and 10 USAR divisions, provided that this troop structure is maintained with no increase of cost or personnel beyond currently programmed levels."

In Washington earlier, Chairman Carl Vinson (D-Ga.) of the House Armed Services Committee said he had information that the House Appropriations Committee would approve money enough to keep guard and reserve forces at full strength.

LITTLE ROCK (U) — The announcement today that the Army had abandoned plans to disband six National Guard divisions was considered good news here.

There had been some speculation that the 20th Division, of which most Arkansas Guards troops are a part, might be one of those eliminated if the proposed change was made.

Neither Maj. Gen. Sherman T. Cline, Arkansas adjutant general, nor Lt. Col. Clarence Page, assistant adjutant general, was available for comment after today's announcement.

The Senate Foreign Relations Committee voted today to restore 220 million dollars of the $39 million cut by the House from President Eisenhower's $3,042,002,500 foreign aid program.

The committee, by voice vote, approved Eisenhower's request for $1,900,000,000 in military hardware funds. The House had voted $1,400,000,000.

Similarly, the Senate group voted to grant the administration $35 million in defense economic support funds for countries with which the United States has defense pacts. The House had cut this item to 775 millions.

The committee decided to meet again in another closed session at 11 a.m. Thursday to consider other items in the bill. There may be other increases.

In still another voice vote, the committee wrote into the foreign aid bill a declaration that it is in the interest of the United States to join other nations in providing India with "support of the type, magnitude, and duration" adequate to assist India in completing her "current program for economic development."

From three senators — Mike Mansfield (D-Mont.), H. Alexander Smith (R-N.J.) and George D. Aiken (R-Vt.) — came appraisals that anti-American demonstrations against Vice President Nixon would help rather than hurt the administration's foreign aid program.

Assembly Tuesday he will take all steps to restore the government. The assembly voted 473-93 to continue the government's emergency powers for Algeria and at the same time it rebuffed De Gaulle's bid for power.

Kidney Ailment Outbreak in State

FORREST CITY, Ark. (AP)—Public health officials are trying to find an explanation for a sudden outbreak here of acute nephritis, an inflammation of the kidneys.

A team of technicians is conducting tests. A physician and a statistician from the federal Communicable Disease Center at Atlanta are helping.

State health officer Dr. J. T. Heron said only 12 or 15 cases had been confirmed although up to 100 were reported.

He said there was no danger of an epidemic.

Pflimlin's efforts to re-establish normal contact between Paris and Algeria got no public encouragement from across the Mediterranean. Alain de Serigny, a top leader of the insurgent French settlers, said today that "we will accept no one but Gen. De Gaulle."

The Premier promised the National Assembly Tuesday to take all steps to restore the Paris regime's authority over Algeria. The Assembly, in a smashing 475-100 vote, continued the government's emergency powers under which it fights the Algerian war and at the same time left De Gaulle standing in the wings.

Sees U. S. Spending at About $80 Billion

WASHINGTON (AP)—Budget Director Maurice Stans predicted today federal spending for the fiscal year starting July 1, 1959, will increase to about $80 billion dollars.

Stans made the forecast after he and President Eisenhower concluded their first discussion of the budget for that fiscal year.

As for the budget for the fiscal year starting July 1, Stans said he looks for a deficit ranging between 8 and 10 billion dollars. And that, he said, does not take into account the possibility of any tax reduction.

When Eisenhower sent that budget to Congress last January he estimated spending for the fiscal year at $73,900,000,000. He also predicted at that time a surplus of 500 million dollars.

Since then, the business recession has brought a decline in tax revenues and an increase in government spending plans.

Officials said the tanks are being collected from stocks in Germany and will be sent to Lebanon

Group Balks at U. S. School Construction

WASHINGTON (AP)—The House Education Committee at a stormy session today balked at a subcommittee's bill for federal aid to school construction. The committee also refused to send it back for further study.

Motions to approve the bill and to return it to the subcommittee both failed on 15-16 tie votes. Chairman Graham A. Barden (D-NC) and Rep. Phil M. Landrum (D-Ga) joined Republicans in what was otherwise a party-line vote.

The committee likewise refused on a tie vote to adjourn. Barden finally ruled the House was in session and that it would be against the rules to continue the meeting. The bill, which would authorize 1½ billion dollars in federal school construction aid, thus remains before the committee without decision.

Republicans sought at today's meeting of the full committee to have the measure sent back for further hearings, with instructions to the subcommittee to act on the bill again by June 5.

Fire Threatens Huge Amount of Meat

CHICAGO (AP)—Health Department inspectors and meat wholesalers worked speedily today to salvage 7-10 million pounds of refrigerated meat periled by an extraordinary fire in the West Side packing house section.

The fire broke out Tuesday night. It destroyed four provision firms and knocked out a central cooling system serving 35 packing firms. The blaze was extinguished early today. Its cause was not known immediately.

Estimates of damage ranged from $100,000 to three million dollars, depending on how much of the stored meat is salvaged. Health Department inspectors began checking meat in packing company lockers in a three-block area after the cooling system failed.

The meat was being moved to new storage places after inspection. Two firms reported at least 70,000 pounds of meat spoiled by water.

200-300 More Idle at Malvern Plant

MALVERN, Ark. (AP)—An estimated 200 to 300 union employees of the National Lead Co.'s Bayoid Sales Division plant here were off their jobs today.

Neither management nor United Mine Workers spokesman commented on the work stoppage, but a representative of the company said a statement would be issued later.

Company and union officials were reported in conference. The firm's Malvern facility involves mining and manufacture of barite, which is used in oil field drilling.

A union contract expired recently.

A Deflator to Be a TV Feature

By CHARLES MERCER

NEW YORK (AP)—It's about time more Americans made the acquaintance of Mort Sahl, one of the nation's most delightful deflators of pomposity and pretentiousness. His only prop is today's newspaper. His only writer is curled in a job of Sahl's brain.

As a matter of fact, you can meet Sahl next Sunday when Wide World (NBC-TV) examines the state of comedy. It literally will be one of his rare TV appearances. Is that because television is scared of Sahl's humor, which willy nilly embraces politics among other matters?

"I would like to think television was scared of me," he said. "It would be flattering. But I think it's more likely that television isn't much aware of me. If it is aware, it comes down to finding a proper format for me."

Radio has found a most satisfying format for him, however, in Nightline (NBC radio, Tuesdays and Thursdays) when he comments on the news ("General Gavin was changing into civvies as he testified...") and—well, just about anything. Scientific advances, for example.

"The most efficient use of radar seems to be not by the airlines or the military but by the police department. I belong to a sportscar club and we have an antiradar defense. We take the tinfol from cigarette packages, place it in our hubcaps, and confuse all the radar devices."

Sahl, who makes $5,000 a week in night clubs and doesn't really need to go to television if television most performers are becoming excessively timid about speaking their minds on anything.

"A lot of them are becoming kind of intolerant," he said. "They say you're undisciplined if you speak your mind. When I say to them, 'I'm going to say what I think,' they start withdrawing from me as if I had leprosy. The only way I can get through the wall to them is to say, 'I've found my greatest gimmick is to speak my mind and get X number of dollars a week for it.' Then they want to talk to me."

Sahl definitely does not feel he has been "suppressed" by television, however.

"There's a whole liberal group who thinks timidity is based on suppression. I've never found any suppression in television, only apathy."

His, Bobby McGill of Fulton was also a guest.

DOROTHY DIX

Leave Children at Home Weddings Are For Adults

Dear Dorothy Dix: My husband and I received an invitation to a wedding and I assumed, of course, that my three sons also were invited. They are 6, 8, and 10. My sister says I'm wrong to take this for granted. I feel it's all right to take them as long as I give a wedding present of sufficient amount to cover the cost of their dinners. The bride is a friend of my sister-in-law.

ADELE J. Dear Adele: In the interest of smooth-running wedding receptions, I'd like to advise you, and other readers who have written about the same problem, that wedding invitations include only those to whom they are addressed. It is very bad manners to assume that your children, in-laws or neighbors can be lured along. Arrangements are usually made for a definite number and to upset the plans is extremely rude. Furthermore, wedding receptions are dignified affairs and the presence of three young children certainly isn't going to contribute anything to the party. Leave the kids home and have fun yourself. Their time for weddings will come.

Dear Dorothy Dix: I'm 20 years old and was married six months ago after going to college for one year. My great desire now is to finish college and become a teacher. My mother and other interested people, however, say I should start my family while I'm young. There's a college close by that I could attend during the day at not too great a cost. It would be a struggle, but worth it, I think.

JANIE Dear Janie: You willingly surrendered your life as a college girl when you got married, and now you must accept the role of wife and mother. I agree with your folks that it's time now for your family. Let college wait a few years. When your own children are in school you can resume your studies.

Dear Dorothy Dix: I think it would be a very good idea if your paper had a column of "Teen-Age Programs," telling of dances and other activities so kids in different schools could know all about other kids and make new friends. We get tired going to the movies or bowling and would love to meet new people.

JOCELYN Dear Jocelyn: The idea has merit. Why don't you contact the different schools, churches and organizations, collect the necessary data and send it on to the paper? Or type it up and distribute the list to the schools for their Bulletin boards. This is a marvelous spot to use your ingenuity and energy. Don't let it go to waste.

Dear Dorothy Dix: I'm 19, and have a child born out of wedlock. I've been dating Mike, a boy of 20 who wants to marry me and is willing to accept my baby as his own. He promises we'll forget the past and begin a brand new life. Do you think I should marry him?

GEORGIANNA Dear Georgianna: The boy is too young to know his own mind, so you will have to know enough to refuse him. The situation is a difficult one for an older person and absolutely impossible for a young man who isn't even of age. Let him off the hook.

Pair Accused of Robbing a Bank

LITTLE ROCK, Mo. — Charles E. and William A. Anderson, brothers accused in the $10,000 robbery of a branch bank at Joiner, were declared competent to stand trial yesterday in a U. S. District Court hearing here.

The federal court awarded custody of the men to Mississippi County where they will be prosecuted for the bank robbery, according to Prosecutor Terry Shell of Jonesboro.

Charles, 26, and William, 32, were indicted in September 1955 for the Joiner breaking.

Yesterday's hearing was the fourth in an effort to determine the sanity of the Andersons. District Judge Harry J. Lemley said he based his ruling that they were sane on testimony of Dr. E. C. Rineck of the U. S. Medical Center at Springfield, Mo.

Believe Nixon Deal Will Help Foreign Aid

WASHINGTON (AP)—Three senators said today they think anti-American demonstrations against Vice President Nixon in South America will help rather than hurt — President Eisenhower's foreign aid program.

Senators Mike Mansfield (D-Mont.), H. Alexander Smith (R-N.J.) and George D. Aiken (R-Vt.) voiced this view as the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, of which all three are members, began consideration of Eisenhower's $3,492,000 aid program.

The Senate committee directed a subcommittee headed by Sen. Wayne Morse (D-Ore) to make a full-fledged inquiry into the background of the Latin-American incidents. Anti-American feeling there erupted into a series of demonstrations, the most violent in Caracas, Venezuela, where Nixon and his wife were stoned and spat on.

The House, accepting recommendations of its Foreign Affairs Committee, cut $30 million dollars from the amount Eisenhower asked but rejected heavier cuts in the military and economic aid authorizations.

Mansfield, who advocates deeper cuts than those made by the House, said he thought the net result of the anti-American demonstrations in Latin America, Lebanon, Algeria and elsewhere would strengthen Eisenhower's hand.

In a separate interview, Smith said he would "move heaven and

Pilot Didn't See the Big Airliner

BRUNSWICK, Md., (AP)—Capt. Julius R. McCoy, sole survivor of a plane collision that killed 12 persons, leaned back in his hospital bed and took a drag from a cigarette.

"We were cruising at about 11,000 feet in clear air," he said. "At no time did I see another plane. The next thing I knew there seemed to be an explosion. There were flames and wreckage all around me."

The 34-year-old Air National Guard officer, his face red, black and blue from second-degree burns, was the only person to live through Tuesday's collision. His condition was not serious.

A Chicago-to-Baltimore Capital Airlines jetliner and the Air Guard's 133rd jet trainer collided over the lush Potomac River Valley eight miles north of Washington.

Smith said he would "move heaven and earth to restore the authorizations to the full amount asked by the President."

"I think our case will be made stronger by the increased evidence of Communist infiltration and economic penetration in South America, Africa and the Middle East," Smith said.

Agreeing, Aiken said one effect of the demonstrations has been to make all Americans conscious of the international situation.

Sen. Bourke B. Hickenlooper (R-Iowa) said there was no disposition on the part of the Senate to retaliate against South America for the Communist-inspired demonstrations.

west of this railroad town and about 50 miles northwest of Washington. The last known passengers aboard the turbo-prop airliner were killed, along with the only passenger in the trainer. Capt. McCoy was blown from the jet plane by the explosion and his parachute somehow opened, carrying him to safety.

In Washington, two congressional investigations of air safety were set swiftly in motion as a result of the collision. The Air National Guard also convened an accident investigation board.

Same Old Story When Yanks, Chicago Meet

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

One can't help but recall the highly optimistic words of Chicago White Sox Manager Al Lopez of two months ago.

"We're going to win the pennant," he said then. "Because the Yankees are not going to beat us nine of 11 in our park as they did last year. A majority of those defeats came in the late innings after we had taken the lead."

"We had that in mind when we traded some of our power for more pitching. I feel the only club we have to beat to take it all is the Yankees and I'm sure we have the pitching to do it."

The White Sox met the Yankees for the first time this season Monday night in Chicago. It was the same old story. The Yankees won, 5-1. They hit three home runs, by Mickey Vernon, Hank Bauer and Mark Thompson. Chicago got only five hits off Johnny Kucks, avoiding a shutout in the same inning. The defeat shoved the Sox deeper into the American League basement, 10 1/2 games behind the runaway Yankees.

Kansas City retained second place, 1 1/2 games off the pace, vanquishing Washington 7-3. Boston swept past Cleveland into fourth place, thrashing the Indians 6-1. In the only daylight game, third place Baltimore evened their six games.

Pitching — Sandy Koufax, Dodgers, hurled a two-hitter as the Dodgers battled back from a 3-0 first inning deficit to finally beat Milwaukee in the 11th with three-run rally, highlighted by Duke Snider's pinch hit double.

This Prodigy Has Lasted a Long Time

By DOUG QUINN

United Press Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK (UPI)—A young fellow of 67 named Mischa Elman is celebrating his golden anniversary year as a concert artist in the United States. Who said that prodigies don't last?

Elman, one of the great violinists of the age, was a soaring prodigy in Europe for four years before he came here. He made his debut to wild acclaim in Berlin in 1904. He was hailed as a genius in short pants in London.

When he got his first pair of long trousers, at 17, it was time to invade America. Now, half a century later, having delivered the famed "Elman Tune" in more than 4,000 concerts to more than 100 million listeners, he is still in the music business in a big way. He appears to be looking ahead, not back.

More Enthusiastic Now

A short, stocky, bald, stubby, fingered man with sharp blue eyes and a vigorous speaking voice, he produced, at an interview, pictures of himself as a boy violin virtuoso with a big bow and a mop of hair. He said he believed his enthusiasm now is greater than when he made his debut at age 12.

"I do hope my health will keep up to way it is today and mean-

Not since Vice President Martin Van Buren's nomination for Democratic presidential candidate at the 1838 convention has a vice president been nominated directly from that office for president.

Dumas was named for a county surveyor, and not from the French novelist as has been supposed by many.

Family Reunited After 28 Years

A REDONDO BEACH, Calif. father and son have found each other after a 28 year separation. The father, Clyde B. Jones, 54, and his son, Davis K. Jones, 31, Orange, Texas spent several days together in California recently.

What brought the father and son together was a letter the son's wife sent to friends of Mrs. Jones in Hope, Ark., in an attempt to locate a grandmother, but instead the whereabouts of her son, Clyde, was discovered.

Davis Jones said he had known his father was alive but never knew where he lived. The two lost contact in 1930, when the family broke up some 28 years ago.

The picture shows, left, the son, Davis K. Jones, his grandmother, Mrs. B. M. Jones and his father, Clyde B. Jones. The son's wife is the former Gloria Wolf of Hope.

U. S. Flags Half Mast May 28-29

Scot Beauty Signed for Disney Feature

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (UP)—A green-eyed, Scot beauty named Janet Munro goes the honor of being the first adult actress to be signed to a long contract by Walt Disney.

Except for an occasional model, the females have been largely neglected at the Disney studio. Look at Minnie Mouse. What movies has she had in the last 10 years? Or Clarabelle Cow for that matter?

Walt is apparently taking steps to end this discrimination. And he seems to have made a good choice for his flatterer. Janet is a talented 23-year-old who strikes you as an adult-babed June Allyson. Her bright eyes blink at you with the same innocent guile, then urp into an adult smile.

She's here now on her first trip to Hollywood, playing the female lead in the leprechaun-lark, "Clash by O'Gill and the Little People." This summer, she goes to Switzerland to appear opposite James MacArthur in "Ranger in the Sky." She is under contract for a year, with a picture in the next five years.

How did she get here?

She explained that she had been seen by a casting agent in an English TV drama called "Up the Girl" was suddenly a subject as you could imagine, she was interviewed by Walt when he was in England to work for him.

Russia Sticks Nose Right in Middle East

By CHARLES M. McCANN, United Press Staff Correspondent

Soviet Russia has taken a big new step in its program of interference in Middle Eastern affairs. Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev has promised President Gamal Abdel Nasser of the United Arab Republic all the help he needs in trying to make himself the dominant leader of the entire Arab world from the Red Sea to the Atlantic Ocean.

Khrushchev and Soviet President Klementi Y. Voroshilov have accepted an invitation by Nasser to visit Egypt at a date to be named.

Nasser, in turn has announced his acceptance of Russia's foreign policy including immediate suspension of nuclear weapons tests, opposition to U.S. military bases in foreign countries and admission of Communist China to the United Nations.

These developments came about during Nasser's visit to Russia, which ended last week.

Rebellion in Lebanon Since then, Russia has started making threats that the United States had better not go too far toward intervention in the affairs of Lebanon, where pro-Nasser elements started a serious rebellion against the pro-Western government.

A statement issued through the official news agency Tass has denounced the Eisenhower Doctrine as "an open program of colonial plunder."

This statement mentioned the activities of the U. S. 6th Fleet in the Mediterranean as an example of pressure and intimidation of the Arab people.

"Any attempt to use internal developments in Lebanon for interference from outside creates a dangerous situation in the Middle East and can cause serious consequences not only for the fate of the Lebanese state and its independence but also for the state of peace in the Middle East," the statement said.

Thinly Veiled Threat Pravda, official organ of the Russian Communist Party, has said that the Soviet Union "could not remain indifferent" if the United States used the Eisenhower Doctrine to intervene in Lebanon.

Soviet public opinion cannot ignore the plans for new imperial adventures in the Near and Middle East, in direct proximity to the Soviet Union's southern borders," Tass said.

These developments seem to indicate that, whatever the chance of any improvement in relations with the United States, Nasser has tied himself closer politically as well as economically to Russia.

Marked Tree Reports a Slight 'Quake'

MARKED TREE, Ark. (UP)—The Marked Tree area was shaken by what apparently was a light earthquake last night. No injuries or damages were reported.

The University of Arkansas seismograph at Fayetteville was to be checked later today to determine if it recorded the tremor.

H. L. Lincoln, a Marked Tree policeman, said the City Hall was shaken. He reported a noise which sounded like two cars crashing together.

Marked Tree, in northeast Arkansas, is near the New Madrid fault which extends from southern Missouri into Arkansas. Earth tremors are comparatively frequent in the section.

Rocky Mountain states had a rate of 44 and New England 43. Chief underlying cause of fall was about what it's always been—lack of experience or competence. So are the causes given in the latest proceedings: 30 per cent due to inadequate sales and 22 per cent to poor competitors.

Kids Like the Mickey Mouse Ringmaster

By VERNUN SCOTT, United Press Staff Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD (UP)—Kids like ice cream, ted bicycles, cotton candy, rocket ships—and a guy named Jimmie Dodd.

Mothers like Jimmie, too. But fathers rarely recognize the fame because Dodd amuses the younger generation every day when dad is battling home-bound traffic.

Jimmie is a combination baby-sitter and leprechaun.

He's ringmaster of "The Mickey Mouse Club," an idol to millions of small fry from the diaper set to teenagers. Unlike TV's Western heroes, he never pulls a gun nor engages in fights.

What sort of man is Dodd off-screen? Does he go through his paces for the kids with gritted teeth waiting for pay day?

Could Be Pled Piper

Answer: If 1958 needed a pied piper, Jimmie would fit the bill. "I have no children of my own," Dodd said during lunch at the Walt Disney studio. "But my wife (Ruth) and I feel as if we are the parents of 10 million little ones."

No matter where we go I'm surrounded by tykes of all ages and sizes—and we couldn't be more pleased. Some are shy, others openly friendly. But kids are the same in every section of the country. And if I didn't love them as much as they love me, they know it in a twinkling.

With an unruly mop of red hair and a sparkle in his eye, Jimmie seems to embody the elfin spirit of Peter Pan. It comes across to adults who meet him, too.

Man of Many Talents

He's a song writer, musician, dancer and actor. But for the past three years he's given up most of his activities (except song writing) to give mothers a half-hour respite daily while the broad glues itself to the family TV set.

"I've learned never to talk down to children, and baby talk is out of the question," Jimmie grinned.

"One of Mr. Disney's cardinal

THE STORY: Major March, insurance detective, is in the Mexican Republic, seeking a missing manuscript insured for $75,000. The manuscript supposedly belongs to the late, wealthy dictator, Major March, who made an appointment and calls on Toledo.

CHAPTER 15

Toledo led the way back into the office and seated himself behind his desk. "And now what can we do for you?" he asked briskly. "You will find that the facilities of my country are always at the disposal of North America and North Americans."

"I want permission," I said carefully, "to search throughout your country for a certain manuscript and, if I'm successful, permission to take it back to the United States."

I almost got him with that. "A manuscript?" he said.

"I will explain," I said. "Normally, back in the United States, I am what you might call a sort of detective. I work for insurance companies trying to solve crimes that are committed against them. My mission here, however, has nothing to do with that. I am working for an individual."

"You left something out of your background," Senior March, he said. "When I was told yesterday that you had phoned for an appointment I thought there was something familiar about your name and I asked someone to rules for everyone connected with his hows and projects is to treat the little people like adults. Kids can spot a phony as easily on a TV screen as they can in person.

"Parents who don't watch the program are curious about me. They'd like to be assured that the man who spends part of the time in their children's hearts is worthy of the occupancy."

"It's something of a responsibility, and I do my darndest to live up to it."

"As you know," I said gravely, "historical records show that Christopher Columbus landed on this island. We know that he spent some time in this area before moving on to what is now the Dominican Republic. Miss Mellany has received information which makes her believe that somewhere in your country there is an original manuscript written in the hand of Christopher Columbus. Probably now in the possession of some family who doesn't even know what they have. Miss Mellany has sent me down to try to find it—providing, of course, that we have your permission."

"A Columbus manuscript? How would you propose locating it if it does exist?"

"Two methods. One, I will place an ad in local newspapers saying that I'm interested in seeing any old manuscripts that may be in the possession of Mexicans. Two, I thought of hiring a car and going around to the really old homes in the country and asking permission to look through any family heirlooms or antiques. We will, of course, pay the family if we find the manuscript. I might also mention that it is Miss Mellany's intention, should we find it to have it known as the 'Toledo Manuscript.'"

He could knock everything into a cocked hat by just refusing permission and I'd be left with my bare face hanging out. But I did not think he would. If my story were true he wouldn't want to miss the chance to do a favor for a rich American and at the same time have his name attached to something of historical importance. If it weren't true he'd still want me around within reach.

Thanks to their own suspicions they now had three choices. From El Naria, they knew I'd been hired by the insurance company presumably to locate Moreno. If easy to arrange an accident.

They also suspected I might be working for the CIA, and taking care of me might be dangerous, no matter how it was handled. Now I'd given them a third possibility. They'd check, but Merry Mellany would tell whoever checked that it was true. If I worked for Merry, I had a legitimate reason for being here and I had a very rich America back of me.
